Seen & Heard Around Murray

The Washington Post of Friday, November 7 carried a column by William J. Raspberry that we considered to be good thinking. We don't know whether Raspberry is a regular columnist or not, but we believe that he probably is.

He entitles this column "Agnew the Father Looked Good in Putting Protest Off Limits". We are running this column for the benefit of our readers on page two of today's Ledger and thanks to the Washington Post for the use of this column.

Now comes a sad story which never should have happened.

We never knew it, but some Barn Owls lived in the steeple of the First Christian Church for years.

Churchgoers there have seen them from time to time and from their low point, looking upward, the Owls appeared to be white. They lent some vague meaning to the church edifice, something akin to character, solidity, prestige, historical background, depth or what have you. Anyway folks there loved these "white" Owls and over the years developed "a rapport or sense of communication with them."

Recently the pastor was in his study when he saw one of the Owls fall to the ground. By the time he got outside the other was there too. Shot down. We don't know who, nor do we care to.

The Owls were taken to a taxidermist and mounted. Their backs are a light brown and indeed the underparts are white blending to a light brownish beige.

The two Owls are on display in the Bank of Murray.

A small chapter in the life of two small bits of wildlife attempting to live in what is

Communists Troops Kill 23 Americans In Battle Today

Letter To Editor

Dear Editor: This morning, at 8:15, I saw a child very nearly get hit by a pickup truck, while in the crosswalk on 16th Street at Locust. Furthermore, the little boy had his arm in a sling and stumbled, nearly falling, in his haste to escape the wheels of the truck. I cannot accurately state the speed of the truck, but it WAS, very definitely, exceeding the speed limit of 15 miles per hour required while passing a school zone. School zone signs are posted both to the north and south of Robertson School on 16th Street.

Shortly after school began the portable Stop sign always posted on 16th at Locust mysteriously disappeared. Why the Stop sign wasn't immediately replaced is a mystery to me. I am writing this letter because it is obvious, to me at least, that a replacement of the missing Stop sign would be a simple elimination of danger to our children. The posting tempt to overrun the outpost, thrown back by dive bombers, artillery, tanks and helicopter gunships.

The fighting in South Vietnam's northern I Corps came on the eve of antiwar protests in the United States. Captured guerrilla documents had ordered widespread attacks to coincide with these demonstrations.

At least 250 Viet Cong and North Vietnamese died in the overnight fighting. U.S. headquarters said two American helicopters were shot down, killing one crewman and injuring four.

Military spokesmen said the United States lost 97 killed and 698 wounded, keeping the death toll below 100 for the sixth week out of the past seven. It brought the number of GIs dead in the war to 39,329.

South Vietnamese troops, going it alone against the offensive along the Cambodian border, had 476 killed and 1,091 wounded, almost double their losses of the previous week. The report listed 2,476 guerrillas slain.

The northern fighting during the night flared from just below the Demilitarized Zone near Con Thien to the Hoi An - An Hoa region farther down the coast, about 350 miles north of Saigon.

The biggest battle near Hoi An saw South Vietnamese troops, river junks, artillery and fighter-bombers team up to a meeting Saturday to replace Dr. William G. Nash who will retire July 1, of 1970.

In other action, the board: Deferred a decision on the future of the Reserve Officers Training Corps at Murray State until a Dec. 13 meeting.

—Accepted an enrollment report by Wilson Gantt, registrar and director of admissions, showing an enrollment drop this fall of about one per cent.

Read is now the faculty representative on the board of regents. He was elected to that post by the faculty in early 1968 after a Kentucky law was passed providing for student and faculty representation on boards of state college and universities.

A Kansan before joining the Murray State faculty in 1949, Read will begin working with Nash immediately in preparation for his new assignment.

Nash has been dean of the faculties at Murray State since 1940. His appointment as a vice-president was made by the board of regents in 1968.

Widely recognized as an outstanding physicist, Read earned the B. S. and M. S. degrees at Fort Hays State College in Kansas and the Ph. D. degree at the University of Kansas.

He is one of two regional counselors in physics for Kentucky under programs of the American Association of Physics Teachers and the American Institute of Physics.

Listed in "American Men of Science" and "Who's Who in American Education," Read is a member of the Kentucky Science and Technology Council, the Kentucky Advisory Committee on Optometry, and the Kentucky Association of Physics Teachers Advisory Committee on Physics Education.

He said he considers the appointment "a high honor." "I have been very much interested in academic programs at Murray State and I am especially pleased that I will have this kind of opportunity to implement this interest," Read added.

The future of the compulsory two-year ROTC program at Murray State has been under consideration by the board of regents since the spring when a campaign was initiated by a group of students and faculty members to have the program made voluntary.

An eight-member faculty committee has made a study of the program and Dr. Ben Humphreys, chairman of guidance, counseling and chairman of that committee, presented a recommendation to the board Saturday that the program become voluntary.

Gantt made the point in his enrollment report that the reduction in the enrollment at the university this fall has been caused by the increase in tuition.

Liftoff Is Still Set For Friday

By AL ROSSITER Jr.
UPI Space Writer
CAPE KENNEDY (UPI) — Launch crews won a race with time and replaced a leaky hydrogen tank in the Apollo 12 moonship today and then resumed preparations for Friday's start of the nation's second lunar landing mission.

Under a suddenly revised set of rules, Charles "Pete" Conrad, Richard F. Gordon and Alan L. Bean must get off between 11:22 a.m. EST and 2:27 p.m. EST or they and thousands of support personnel will have to wait until Dec. 14. There is no second chance this month.

The troublesome hydrogen tank was the only hitch. By dawn, it had been replaced with one from the Apollo 13 spacecraft and technicians were preparing to start pumping frigid liquid hydrogen into it. That was the tank's big test and the operation was expected to be completed in the afternoon.

"We look real good now," reported launch operations Manager Paul C. Donnelly.

Donnelly's launch pad crews completed the tank switch and made the necessary electrical and plumbing connections three hours ahead of schedule.

The weather and all other aspects of preparations for the start of the $350 million, 10-day expedition were reported "go."

The problem involved a leak in the vacuum insulation jacket of one of two spacecraft tanks the size of a beach ball. The

Agnew the Father Looked Good In Putting Protest Off Limits

SPIRO T. AGNEW may not be a good vice president, even if he is the only vice president we have.

But it will take more than his handling of his daughter's desire to participate in the Oct. 15 Moratorium to convince me that he isn't a good father.

On that one, I thought he looked great.

As Stewart Alsop tells the story in Newsweek magazine, daughter Kim, age 14, wanted to wear a black arm band to show her opposition to the war.

The vice president told Alsop that he "took a lot of time to tell her how we got involved in Vietnam..." Kim said she understood but didn't agree.

There was more back and forth until finally the vice president, convinced that his reasons were sounder than Kim's, told her: "There will be no black arm band and no participation in a demonstration."

And there wasn't. Mr. Agnew was pleased to report.

Well, good show.

WHAT THE vice president was saying, it seems to me, is that the family is not a democracy, and shouldn't be. And many of the liberals who are putting him down for his handling of the situation ought to take a closer look at their own households.

Many of them are arguing with their 14-year-olds about everything from Vietnam to hairstyles to pot. And many of them are losing the argument and their control of the situation, even though they still feel that they know better than their children what is good for them.

Am I mistaken in my notion that the children of these liberals are more likely than those of old-fashioned parents to smoke pot, drop acid, shoot speed or whatever?

Aren't there times when permissive parents wish they had been less democratic and more authoritative?

Don't they wish occasionally that they could quit the debate and say, "Because I said so"—and make it stick?

The trick, of course, is that you can't wait until your Kim is 14 to start letting her know that Dad (or Mom) is a lot closer to being an absolute monarch than just another member of a one-man, one-vote household. Because by then, you can't make it stick.

OBVIOUSLY more is involved than sheer authoritarianism. The kid has to know that you care, and not just about your own possible embarrassment.

Middle-class and upper-class liberals often put too much stock in the appeal to reason, and they sit there wringing their hands while their children do things that the parents know are contrary to the children's best interest.

Poor parents may be more likely to rely too heavily on cold authority. And when the kids get too big for Dad to enforce his orders with a belt, the game is over. Juvenile Court officials learn about these cases when the parents sheepishly acknowledge that the children are "beyond parental control." At age 14.

There are exceptions. There was the mother who came to Howard University during a student takeover to lead her son away. He went not because he was afraid of his mother but because his respect for her outweighed his embarrassment before his peers. She had done her homework.

So, apparently, had Spiro Agnew.

I'm sure that Kim wasn't any happier about the way things went than was the Howard student.

As her father told Alsop: "Well, there was the usual crisis, and I guess some mutual trauma, but after that, I think, I was nicer than usual to her, and she was nicer to me."

I found the account refreshing.

It would be a mistake, of course, to try to run a country that way.

But it doesn't seem a bad way to run a family.

BANNED AND O.K. — The Hicksville, N.Y., School Board said "No" to these hip-hugger bell bottom slacks 15-year-old Lori Scott wears, but apparently her miniskirt is O.K. Lori's mother, a welfare recipient, says she can't afford the prescribed clothes, so she's taking the case to court. The judge requested further written briefs. (Briefs!)

Centennial Scrapbook 1869

Going Back to 1869

84-E "The finest building in Nevada is that belonging to the United States government, at Carson City," asserted an old edition of King's Handbook of the United States. The editor listed as less imposing structures at that city: the State Capitol, the State Prison.

The reference was to the United States Mint authorized by Congress in 1869 as a convenient depository for fortunate ones among some 50,000 prospectors who crowded into the Sierra Nevada after news came out of a canyon below Mount Davidson in 1858. An historian annotated that news, "Black lumps which bothered the few washers... were assayed by two miners named Grosch, who possessed some knowledge of metallurgy, and pronounced it to be rich sulphurets of silver... A rush to Washoe commenced. Early in 1861, Congress organized the Territory of Nevada, out of Utah west of 150°."

Bullion was to remain the chief product of Nevada for many years before quick-sure devices dispensers and multi-gambling devices at Reno and Las Vegas became allures. Before 1893, some $600,000,000 in gold and silver were sent out, only a fraction of it in the form of coinage from Carson City Mint; 1893 was the year it was shut down. Beside bullion from diggings at Virginia City (where the deeply implanted Comstock Lode yielded millions in wealth yearly to owners), enrichments were produced by systematic high pressure washings of metal from close-to-surface veins, or placer mining.

Naturalists have good reason to prize coinage—twenty-cent, five-cent, fifty-cent, one-dollar silver, and five-dollar, ten-dollar, twenty-dollar gold pieces with CC markings identifying these as Carson City mintage. Many are relatively rarer than similar denominations stamped out at Philadelphia and other mints. One guide book to U.S. coinage evaluations appraises a CC quarter-dollar the initial date of issue, 1870, at from $55 to $275, according to condition.

MENTAL HEALTH MATTERS

Stanley F. Yolles, M.D., Director
National Institute of Mental Health

INBORN LINK TO CRIMINAL BEHAVIOR NOT PROVED

The XYY syndrome is an inborn abnormality of the male chromosomes in which some males are born with an extra "Y" chromosome instead of the usual "XY" found in the male sex.

Chromosomes are small, more or less rod-shaped bodies which appear in the nucleus of a cell at the time of cell division. The name is from two Greek words, chromo (meaning color) and soma (body).

Chromosomes contain the genes or hereditary factors of animals and man. The normal number of chromosomes in humans is 46, with 22 pairs of what are called autosomes and two sex chromosomes. These are known as "XX" in females and "XY" in males.

Many variations may occur in the chromosomes. Some of these have been found to be associated with various abnormalities in behavior or physical makeup. Here is where the current case of the XYY syndrome comes in.

Unfortunately, the impression has sprung up that the XYY abnormality is clearly related to criminal behavior.

This is why the National Institute of Mental Health's Center for Studies of Crime and Delinquency recently called together a scientific conference of specialists from genetics, psychiatry, psychology, sociology, and law. They carefully examined the current state of knowledge of the XYY syndrome from all aspects.

Their conclusion is that a link between the XYY syndrome and criminal acts, such as violent murder, is not clearly proved. The assertion that males with the XYY chromosomes are related to criminal behavior is definitely misleading, they said, and has developed undue public concern about males with XYY that is premature because research evidence is not adequate to support the assertion.

The conference also pointed out the important need for research to get valid information about the prevalence of XYY cases in the population. This we have little or no idea of now.

Also, research is urgent to find out just what are the interactions between chromosomal abnormalities like this and social behavior.

Lacking such information, we cannot at the present time properly evaluate the meaning and significance of the XYY cases which have been found among various kinds of criminals. But the Center for Studies of Crime and Delinquency is planning to stimulate and encourage studies to get the needed research answers. Meantime, definite conclusions cannot be drawn about the relationship between XYY and deviant, criminal, or violent behavior.

Today is Thursday, Nov. 13, the 317th day of 1969 with 48 to follow.

The moon is between its new phase and first quarter.

The morning stars are Mercury, Venus and Jupiter.

The evening stars are Saturn and Mars.

On this day in history:

In 1921 Hollywood released the picture "The Sheik," starring the great film love Rudolph Valentino.

In 1933 workers at the Hormel Packing Company in Austin, Minn., staged the first recorded sit-down strike in the United States.

In 1937 the Holland Tunnel between New York City and New Jersey was opened.

In 1942 the Japanese fleet suffered a heavy defeat in an unsuccessful attempt to retake U. S. positions in the S Islands.

A thought for the day: Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes said, "The life of the law has not been logic; it has been experience."

Let Me Write

by Darrell Shoemaker

You have had daily contact with people all of your life, but you have yet to see that one person with the explosive drive and determination of Herman Kelly Ellis. The nuclear bomb was his energy condensed. It's true we were competitors for many years, and huddled heads bareheaded, in business, but never for one moment did we abort true friendship even before popcorn was grown here. Two things have happened, when we were competitors, that I shall never forget. Nobby Carraway (tops in anybody's book), was Herman's plant manager, and when his son started to school my daughter (Judy) was student teaching. Mrs. Mavis McCamish was introducing each of the youngsters to their new teacher, and when she introduced Nobby's boy to Miss Shoemaker, he said, "Yes, I know her, our daddy's are enemies". Competitors did not come to his mind. The other one happened just before dark in Missouri, when harvesting popcorn grown there. I was unloading into a trailer and Duff Erwin drove up, turned off his tractor and walked up just in time to hear the helper say he was starving to death, to which Duff replied, "Don't say that again for I saw a dommernecker rooster in that far fence row that I had to restrain myself from running down to get a few bites".

I never saw finer harvesting fall weather, if it holds out another week farmers will be through and they are due one. They come so seldom. It takes a while of a lot of money to farm these days. They used to say, "Well, if I can't do better I can always farm". That man isn't here today that could provide a meager living off of a farm with a team and tools, along with government restrictions on what he can and can't grow. JUST THINK what would happen if every farmer in the United States decided together, that come next Monday that they would not sell one dime worth of production from any source for 60 days, and there isn't a farmer that couldn't do just that too. It scares me, after all the Unions are doing the same thing to get demands met, by not working for several months at a time in some instances. If there wasn't one automobile or truck made for two years nobody would be walking. His not working is one thing but the producer of food is another. One example in my own household, this past week the same brand of bacon was up ten cents per pound, a whopping 17% yet pork on the hoof was off 25¢ cwt. Somebody between the producer and consumer is really taking the public.

Fund Will Aid Billy Crosswy

A fund to benefit William F. Crosswy, supervisor of music in Henry County schools, will be launched by the Key Club at Henry County High.

"They hope to raise $1,000 by Christmas," said Tom Redmon, faculty advisor of the club. "I'm real proud of them. They're very enthusiastic about it."

Crosswy, band director for more than 20 years, is critically ill at Vanderbilt Hospital in Nashville.

Redmon said the club is planning a light bulb sale, a Thanksgiving dance, a sale of school pennants and other projects to benefit the fund. Other groups wishing to join in the fund are invited to contact the Key Club president, Pate McCartney.

Dates of the fund-raising projects are to be announced soon.

TO INTRODUCE BILL

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Rep. Henry S. Reuss, D-Wis., plans to introduce a bill today to bar the supersonic airliner from overland flights unless the government can show the sonic boom will not "harm or annoy people on the ground."

"We simply cannot allow supersonic airliners to assault the peace and quiet of millions of Americans just so a few jet setters can get where they're going a few hours faster,"

Reuss said. He said his bill would bar overland flight until the Health, Education and Welfare Department was satisfied the 1,800 mile an hour plane met tolerable noise levels.

State's New Magazine Wins Award

Input Kentucky, the State's year-old industrial promotion magazine, topped the field in a recent competition of public relations periodicals.

Sixteen states were represented in the literature awards competition at the 24th annual conference of the Southern Industrial Development Council in St. Louis, Nov. 1-4. Input Kentucky took best in class in the category of periodicals of a public relations nature.

The quarterly magazine is a four-color, slick-surface magazine published for the Department of Commerce by the Department of Public Information. It does not carry advertising.

Commenting on Input Kentucky, Governor Louie B. Nunn, said, "The Nation is learning that Kentucky is the state that is really going after industry. Paul Grubbs and the commerce staff are to be congratulated for their insight in developing this magazine, and Jim Host and his Public Information staff have done a terrific job in making the idea work for us."

"The idea of the magazine," explains Executive Editor Harold Finley, "is to tell about Kentucky's potential for industrial development. Kentucky has an abundance of natural resources, a good labor supply, and a very favorable economic climate for developing industries. The State is going all out to help new and expanding industries; with Input Kentucky we are letting people know about it."

The magazine has two general target groups in its circulation. "First, we want to get the Kentucky story to manufacturers across the nation," said Editor Courtney Noe. "Secondly, we want to keep Kentucky industrial development groups and Chambers of Commerce aware of the services available from the State to help stimulate industrial growth in their areas. With Input Kentucky we reach both groups."

The State won awards on two other publications at the same conference, according to James Noland, assistant commissioner of Commerce. Receiving gold ribbons for excellence were the Kentucky Directory of Manufacturers, and the Danville Industrial Resources publications, both published by the Department of Commerce.

OPPOSES SERVICE

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The State Department says it "strongly opposes" service by American citizens in foreign military armed forces, including those of Israel.

In a statement, the department said such service can raise very "serious questions for the United States in the conduct of its foreign relations." There are between 50 and 80 U.S. citizens in the Israeli armed forces.

Are flammable liquids, such as cleaning fluids, kerosene and paint thinner, stored out of doors in proper containers?

TEMPERATURE by "remote control" is the accomplishment of this new device demonstrated in Southampton, England, by Sister (nurse) Givvin and "patient" Gillian Ashby. It is an infra-red thermometer and takes temperature by means of rays emitted by the skin. Anyone who's ever been awakened at 3 a.m. for the thermometer in a hospital will realize how welcome it can be.

Dear Abby

Make 'points' with your wife too!

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Rudy works for a large company, and as you know there is a pecking order in all companies. The chairman of the board is apple-polished by the vice presidents, the vice presidents are apple-polished by the department heads, the department heads are apple-polished by the buyers, and so on down the line.

Well, whenever Rudy's company has a party, they have an orchestra and dancing. Rudy is a very good dancer, but I never get to dance with him. He spends the entire evening dancing with his bosses' wives, so the bosses will be free to dance with all the cute young things. Rudy says I am not to complain because this is "legitimate apple-polishing," which is a part of his job.

Now I'm all for Rudy making points with his bosses, but do you think it's fair for him to leave me sitting all evening while he dances with the bosses' wives? RUDY'S WIFE

DEAR WIFE: Rudy doesn't need polished apples for all the applause he's giving you. NO man should dance with another woman unless his own wife is occupied. [A little "henpecking" could have a legitimate place in this pecking order.]

DEAR ABBY: I am a 65-year-old woman, never married and just retired. I have taken care of an older ailing sister who died eight weeks ago.

I was so lonesome, I went to a store and bought myself a beautiful large doll. I set her in the chair and I sometimes talk to her.

I am worried. Is anything wrong with me? Why did I buy a doll at my age? Should I give it away or just let it sit there? Thank you. WORRIED

DEAR WORRIED: You bought a doll at your age because you wanted one. And there is nothing wrong with that. But you really should get out a little more, see people, and perhaps team up with a companion. Too much solitude can be depressing.

DEAR ABBY: In our office there is a girl who has been "single" ever since the death of her husband two years ago. The boss lost his wife about a year ago, and these two have been very chummy ever since. They've even taken out-of-town trips together just like married folks, and have recently announced (to the surprise of no one) that they are "engaged" to be married!

A large wedding is planned and I have heard that all of us in the office will be invited. How can I tactfully turn down this wedding invitation? I don't care to attend the wedding of people who have lived in sin for a whole year. INDIGNANT

DEAR INDIGNANT: Simply decline. You are not expected to explain why. P. S. You could be wrong about this "sin" charge, you know. Are you "indignant" enough to quit working for this "sinner"? If not, why not?

CONFIDENTIAL TO "LOST FAITH" IN CHICAGO: Perhaps a lesson in "faith" can be best illustrated in this way:

A mother had just received word that her only son, a bright, handsome man of 22, had been killed in Viet Nam. Her pastor tried vainly to console her in her grief.

"Where was your God when my only son was killed?" she cried. "The same place He was when HIS only son was killed," the pastor quietly replied.

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

For Abby's booklet, "How to Have a Lovely Wedding," send $1 to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069.

Sisterhood Chapter Has Luncheon Meet At McKenzie Home

Members of Chapter M of the P. E. O. Sisterhood were entertained at a luncheon on Saturday in the home of Mrs. Henry McKenzie. Out-of-town members present were Mrs. James Berhow and Mrs. Edward Nunnelee, both of Mayfield.

Mrs. Ralph Tessenier, vice president of the Chapter, presided during the business meeting. It was announced that Mrs. H. C. Becker, of Lexington, Kentucky State Organizer for the Sisterhood, would be a guest at the December 6th meeting.

Mrs. Olga Freeman and Mrs. Alfred Lindsey presented the program on two of the educational projects of P. E. O. Mrs. Freeman gave the history of the Educational Loan Fund which began in 1904 with funds remaining from the P. E. O. Day celebrated at the St. Louis Exposition. By 1919 chapters and members had contributed to the fund so that it reached more than one hundred thousand dollars. Fifty years later it has reached well over a million dollars and more than eight million dollars has been loaned from this revolving fund to girls seeking an education. Mrs. Freeman outlined some of the new policies of the Board of Trustees administering the fund.

Mrs. Lindsey told of the work of P. E. O. through its International Peace Scholarships which were instituted for foreign students following World War II. Students receiving grants under this project have numbered nearly a thousand coming to the United States and Canada to study in 232 colleges, from seventy-four countries or political divisions.

The next meeting of Chapter M will be in the home of Mrs. Hugh Oakley with Mrs. William Wood as the assisting hostess. It is scheduled at 12:00 noon on Thursday, November 20.

Mrs. Conrad Jones Opens Home For Circle Meeting

Mrs. Conrad H. Jones was hostess for the regular meeting of the Bessie Tucker Circle of the Women's Society of Christian Service of the First United Methodist Church held Thursday, November 11, at nine-thirty o'clock in the morning at her home on Wells Boulevard. The meeting was opened with a prayer from Peter Marshall's Prayer book by Mrs. E. A. Tucker.

Mrs. John T. Irvan, chairman, presided over the business session. She announced that the November general meeting will be held November 25 at 7:30 p.m. at the church. It will be a special old fashioned Thanksgiving service under the direction of Mrs. Justin Stuart. The December circle meeting will be a joint meeting with the Maryleona Frost and Alice Waters Circle at the parsonage.

In completing the two years work of the circle, members voted to make contributions to work with American Indians, the Reelfoot Rural Ministry, and to the Church Landscaping fund.

The program closing the week of prayer and self-denial was a litany, "Let The Earth Bring Forth," which was led by Mrs. James Weatherly and Mrs. Irvan lifting up quick glimpses of the projects for which the prayer and self-denial offering will be used. At the conclusion of the program an offering was taken.

Refreshments were served from the dining room table to the twelve members present.

Help wanted
NEW YORK (UPI) — Businesses large and small are looking for secretaries and clerical workers in just about every city in the nation.

The Institute of Life Insurance says this is the case despite a decade of automation and computerization. The fact of the matter is: modern technology has found no substitute for a woman who can take dictation, quickly type a letter, keep a boss's calendar, take phone calls, make a pleasant impression on office visitors and be what some employers call "girl Friday."

Golden Anniversary

Hit The Books

NEW YORK (UPI) — Students who get the best grades and learn the most in college are usually the ones who were library users in high school, studies have shown.

Other studies indicate that high school youngsters who use their library the most are those who got the habit in grammar school. "It's no wonder, then, that most educators agree that you need a good library to teach reading today," says William J. Worrell, founder of the Pilgrim Book Society which was formed 11 years ago to promote good reading.

Hazardous
PHILADELPHIA, Pa. (UPI) — Smoking in bed is banned at the Philadelphia Veterans Administration Hospital. But some patients are sliding under the bed covers to sneak a puff.

Mindful of the saying that "where there's smoke, there's fire," officials are issuing fire-retardant pajamas. The ban on smoking remains, despite the fact that the 15,000 pairs of new fiber pajamas have replaced the standard cotton ones.

"Little Sun" Is Name For Special Camp For Children With Respiratory Illness

By GAY PAULEY
UPI Women's Editor

LENINGRAD, U.S.S.R. (UPI) — The Russians call it Solnyshko, which means "Little Sun," and the Western visitor cannot help being impressed at this example of how the Soviets care for their young in a child-oriented land.

Solnyshko is a special camp for special children, operated the year round for those with respiratory ailments like the aftermath of pneumonia, bronchitis, chronic colds. Not for tuberculosis victims, officials assured a group of women visitors from the United States. Those children go to another special camp.

Two thousand children from two years of age on through kindergarten roamed the rolling, partially wooded 284 acres of Solnyshko, located about one hour's bus drive from Leningrad and partially paralleling the Bay of Finland so that there is a beach for summer fun.

Little Sun, in its sixth year, draws children from all over Leningrad, the U.S.S.R.'s second largest city (3.6 million) and is the largest of several such camps in the Soviet Union. Leningrad's damp climate is one reason so many city children develop respiratory diseases, said Ladna Porfirievna, the camp's director.

In all, 54 buildings including regular classrooms, toy-filled playrooms, dormitories, kitchens and special rooms for dressing for winter or summer sports make up the facilities. Little Sun is free to parents, but costs the state 2.5 million rubles ($1,775,000) a year to operate, said Mrs. Porfirievna. Children are admitted on recommendation of a special medical commission and remain anywhere from six months to a year.

The tots are divided into groups according to age and are cared for by a staff of 50-some per group. In all, there are 20 doctors, 142 nurses, 138 teachers, a dentist and a

FASHIONETTES

By United Press International
Designer Chester Weinberg describes clothes in his spring 1970 collection as "very gay, very feminine, fragile, airy, unconstructed." They are also trim, slim and agile — willowy long jackets over pullover shorts, narrowed, braidbound tunics over pleated slips, dagger-thin cardigan and caftan coats over pants and an open necked shirt.

A new simulated diamond costs $50 per carat, compared to a price of more than $1000 per carat for a natural diamond of similar color and quality. At a luncheon during which the stone was introduced by Litton Industries and Saks Fifth Avenue, Cordon Franklin, head of Saks, said, "Never before have we seen a simulated gem which compares so closely to the natural diamond in fiery, blue white brilliance."

Exercises and calorie-cutting ought to be on deck for all who have a little flab around the middle. That is, if one is to look well in — or even be able to wear — the tight bodiced dresses being ordered up by many of America's trend-setting designers for spring.

Among the scene-making new hairdos for spring: hair upswep and coiled into a tight knot at the top of the head. It's really a throwback to grandma's day. In the spring showing of Oscar de la Renta, all the models sported such a hairstyle, designed this time by Suga.

Pablo did makeup for the Oscar de la Renta show. He's on the Elizabeth Arden staff in New York. Blue or blue-green shadow was swept across the total eye area, including the bridge of the nose, ending squared off right at the temple. Looked like someone had painted on mini-glasses.

Question

NEW YORK (UPI) — Don Loper, internationally-known Beverly Hills, Calif., designer, says police couldn't arrest anyone for nudity during the famed Woodstock Rock Festival. "When you have two pounds of dirt on you, you can't be considered nude — even though there's no clothing, can you," he asked.

polyclinic on the grounds. Children under three years get special nurses, said the director, as she led our group through classrooms where little ones were staging folk games especially for their guests and on out to the spacious grounds which are a veritable fairyland for exploration and the healing outdoors.

The camp takes the children from the parent for the duration of treatment. Parents officially are permitted a monthly visit, but unofficially, the director said, most of them come each weekend and many help in maintenance of the grounds and buildings. On a birthday, there is a party for the child and parents may spend the whole day. In turn, a parents' representative checks the children daily.

There's never any spanking. It is ruled out in the Soviet system.

Spray aids x-rays

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UPI)—Inspired by hair sprays and aerosol anesthetics, two Tennessee College of Medicine radiologists have devised an aerosol technique for spraying contrast material into a patient's windpipe and its subdivision within the lung as the first step in an x-ray procedure for diagnosing diseases of the trachea and bronchus. Using a barium sulfate suspension in an aerosol atomizer, Dr. T. H. Johnson, Jr., and Dr. W. J. Howland tested their technique on animals before employing it in human patients.

MADRID (UPI)—There were 32.7 million Spaniards at the end of 1968. Population experts say there should be 33.5 million by the end of 1970. The five largest Spanish cities are Madrid, with more than 3 million inhabitants, followed by Barcelona, Valencia, Sevilla and Zaragoza.

Home finders

St. Louis (UPI) — An interracial, non-corporation of local citizens has been in operation in suburban University City, finding homes for families.

The corporation's name is known by initials — UCRS — University City Residential Service, with headquarters in the Midland Presbyterian Church Education Building in University City.

Willis Crenshaw, St. Louis Football Cardinal running back, Dean Ira J. Hirsch of Washington University, Dean Robert S. Bader, University of Missouri at St. Louis, and doctors, businessmen and housewives are among those who volunteer their services.

A UCRS spokesman said, "we've been working hard for three years to help people find homes in University City when many real estate agents were encouraging white home buyers to look elsewhere."

University City, population

53,000, is an integrated city which has a law banning "for sale" signs on lawns.

Mrs. James K. Richter, a housewife, says the corporation's services "are open to all, its principal effort has been to demonstrate that white families do continue to rent and buy in an integrated community."

She said that UCRS has helped place more than 400 families in University City since June 1968.

For families looking for homes, UCRS says, "try us... no-charge, non-profit service to help you locate in University City."

turning into a world for man only. We fear for wildlife in general, even with the attempts of many organizations to conserve species, habitat, and feeding areas.

And now a brighter side. Did you ever see such improvement in a band as was evidenced Tuesday in the Calloway County High Band. We well remember when it was first organized. Mr. Singleton worked for some years with it, then Mrs. Pique really whipped it into shape. Now Mr. Berry has it. The band can well be proud of itself. They marched well and played as well as any band we've heard lately. The band is somewhat small in numbers but it is already twice the size it used to be. A good band and one of which we can all be proud.

A port young miss walking down the street wearing a sweat shirt with the word "Insomniac Cures Snoring". You really can't argue with the end result, however, the means leaves something to be desired.

Well, what a nice letter from Dr. Harry U. Whayne. Harry and his family live at 8618 Acorn Circle, Vienna, Virginia 22180. All you folks remember Harry. Keep this address in case you intended to send him and his family a Christmas card or maybe just a hello card.

Came in last night after a meeting started to death. Literally staggering with hunger, we made our way to the refrigerator to seek relief.

Pulled out a package of Kosher Salami, a Garlic-Dill pickle and one of those little round cheeses entitled Bacon Cheese. All this with fresh crackers and we returned to the land of the living in good form.

Now you may have the idea that a concoction of this sort is odoriferous. You know, you are right. If you eat something like this then go out among people it might be well to chew on something like a Cert, which as you know contains a drop of retsym, whatever that is and if that's the way you spell it.

We just can't believe everything we read, see or hear. For instance. On the TV this week a lady had an enormous Timber Wolf on a leash. She maintained that they were as docile as dogs and in fact acted much like dogs. That they are not dangerous unless cornered or unless you try to take food away from them. However in spite of the fact that this huge beast did in fact seem docile, we hope that we do not run into one in the wild. It's not that we disbelieve her, or anything like that, it's just that we are scared of Timber Wolves. If they will not corner us or try to take our food away from us, we hereby pledge that we will not try to corner them or try to take their food away from them.

Cars and babies
AMSTERDAM (UPI)—Holland, with 12.5 million inhabitants, may expect to get more cars on the roads than new babies in the homes. While about 400,000 new passenger cars and commercial vehicles will be sold only 250,000 babies will be born this year, according to statisticians.

'AN INTERRUPTION'

A "temporary interruption" was the phrase used by Governor Nunn Wednesday to "correct" an interviewer who referred to the Democrats' capture of the mayor and county judge offices as "an end" to Republican rule in Louisville and Jefferson County.

The Governor, a Republican, said he was "very pleased with the results" in areas of the state "where we worked—spent our time."

Asserting that in three key races for the state senate, Republicans overcame substantial Democratic registration advantages to win, he cited George Plummer, Elliott, Greenup and Lewis counties; Clyde Middleton, Kenton, and Ray White, Warren, Edmondson, Grayson, Ohio and Breckinridge.

CANDIDATE CONSOLATION

Republican Edith Stanley, first woman county attorney of Jefferson County and believed to be the first woman nominated for circuit judge by a major political party in Kentucky, had a preconceived consolation for losing the first chancery judgeship to incumbent Democrat Macaulay Smith.

She told friends while in the Kentucky Hotel awaiting election returns Tuesday that if she lost "I'll just tell them I look terrible in black (judicial robes) anyway."

tanks are designed to store liquid hydrogen at 423 degrees below zero. The hydrogen fuels the ship's fuel cell electric generators.

The vacuum heat barrier failed and the frigid hydrogen in the tank began to heat and evaporate.

Engineers decided the fastest way to correct the problem was to replace the faulty tank with one from the Apollo 13 spacecraft. The operation began Wednesday night. By nightfall today, officials hoped to have a full 28-pound load of hydrogen in the new tank.

It was the first time in American manned spaceflight history that astronauts had only one day in a month to be launched. Apollo 12's pilots started out with two launch days — Friday and Sunday — and a landing site on the moon's Ocean of Storms to match each day.

But project officials decided Wednesday that Conrad and Bean — the two landing pilots — were not trained well enough to attempt a pinpoint landing on the alternate site. A pinpoint landing would be considered to be within a half-mile of a given point. Apollo 11's pilots were four miles off target in July.

Pinpoint Landing is Objective
Achieving the pinpoint landing is one of the prime objectives of the Apollo 12 mission. Mission planners want to prove the moonship is capable of such accurate landings before targeting Apollo 13 toward a harder-to-reach and more interesting site in March.

Donnelly said if Apollo 12 is postponed until December the launch of Apollo 13 astronauts James A. Lovell, Thomas K. Mattingly and Fred W. Haise would "in all probability" be delayed until April.

In the event of a delay, the Apollo 12 crew would prepare for a landing on the alternate site so there would be two launch opportunities in December.

RACING DATES

Conflicts in racing dates between Kentucky's thoroughbred and standardbred tracks next year have been avoided by representatives of the two groups, Chairman George E. Egger of the Kentucky State Racing Commission said in announcing 224 days of the thoroughbred racing for 1970, the same as this year.

"We have met with the members of the Trotting Commission and worked with them many hours to get this done," said Egger, "but it couldn't have been accomplished without the cooperation of Churchill Downs (Louisville)."

"They have given up one week of their fall meeting to avoid conflict with the Lexington Trots, but we have added these days onto their meeting in the spring."

The Kentucky Derby will be May 2.

COMPUTER ON STRIKE

The Kentucky State Fair Board selected Aug. 20-29 as dates for the 1970 fair, formed a special corporation to promote its giant exposition center, and learned at its last meeting that the computer it leased last summer had stubbornly refused to process prize payments from the 1969 fair.

Donald Johnston, the fair's executive director, said the computer had choked up on the tobacco payments, stumbled over the quarter horse show, and run scared on the rabbit prizes.

He added he had found a substitute for the computer—people—that they would process the checks by hand, and should have them in the mail by Nov. 15.

Among the dead were a Communist battalion commander and a district political commissar.

Military spokesmen said South Vietnamese units lost two killed and five wounded in the fight, with five of their American advisers also suffering wounds. Fifty-three Communist suspects were seized.

Most of the American losses in the northern battles came in two fights involving U. S. Marines. The Leathernecks lost six killed and 13 wounded. No guerrilla casualties were reported in the clashes.

These battles comprised the heaviest combat in South Vietnam's five northernmost provinces, known as I Corps, since a series of battles along the Demilitarized Zone in September.

Military spokesmen reported other fights in the Central Highlands and Mekong Delta killed a total of 86 Viet Cong and North Vietnamese against Allied losses of five South Vietnamese slain and nine wounded.

Guerrilla soldiers shelled 16 Allied targets during the night, including a Mekong Delta Army training center where three civilians were killed and seven wounded. Losses elsewhere were reported light.

Four flights of B52 bombers dropped 360 tons of bombs along the Cambodian frontier 65 to 72 miles north of Saigon overnight in the continuing raids against a North Vietnam base buildup.

Today's Stock Market

NEW YORK (UPI)—Stocks opened easier today in moderate turnover.

In the absence of fresh incentives analysts believe that the market could wander aimlessly, although they note that some downward drifting may develop due to concern over this weekend's anti-war march on the nation's capital.

Shortly after the opening, the UPI marketwide indicator was off 0.14 per cent on 321 issues crossing the tape. There were 136 declines, and 94 advances. Lums Inc. eased 1/2 to 24 1/2, while Ling-Temco gave up 1/2 to 34 1/2. Polaroid dipped 1/4 to 140, and Procter & Gamble 1/4 to 111 1/2.

Xerox lost 1/2 to 106, with American Smelting down 1/2 to 33 1/2. U.S. Smelting dipped 1/4 to 47 1/2, and American Telephone 1/4 to 52 1/2 on a block of 12,000 shares.

In the steel group, Bethlehem slipped 1/4 to 29 1/2. U.S. Steel also lost 1/4 to 37 1/2.

Among the electronics, General Electric gained 1/4 to 84 1/2, and Control Data 1/4 to 115. RCA, however, gave up 1/4 to 40 1/2. IBM lost 1/2 to 365 1/2. Jersey Standard was unchanged at 64 1/2 in the oil group, but Atlantic Richfield fell 1/4 to 99 1/2. Cities Service lost 1/4 to 47 1/2. Occidental gained 1/4 to 26 1/2 on a block of 38,100 shares.

Du Pont fell 1/4 to 118 in the chemicals, while General Motors dipped 1/4 to 74 1/2 in the motors. Chrysler fell 1/4 to 39 1/2, and Ford 1/4 to 44 1/2. American Motors also eased 1/4 to 11 1/2. The latter also traded a 20,000 share block at 11 1/2.

Death or injury to one of our children would affect our entire community. Please, let's not allow that to happen. We parents must work together to see that our children have all possible protection. And we must all question ourselves as to how safely we drive our own automobiles.

The life we save may be our neighbors' as well as our own. Sincerely,

Ohio State Is Picked To Topple Purdue By 19 Points

By STEVE SMILANICH
UPI Sports Writer

NEW YORK (UPI)—Rex Kern may log as much time in the trainer's room as he does on the practice field but the spunky Ohio State quarterback is always ready to play come game time on Saturday.

Kern, with a stronger supporting cast than rival quarterback Mike Phipps, will give Ohio State its second straight over Rose Bowl contender Purdue. We like Woody Hayes' Warriors by a 40-21 margin.

Michigan, also contending for the Rose Bowl, should stay in the running for the trip to Pasadena by beating Iowa. The Wolverines get ready for next week's clash with Ohio State by downing the Hawkeyes, 35-21.

As the countdown for bowl game selections begins, here's how the other major games look:

Texas 35, Texas Christian 14 — second-ranked Longhorns are too long on running backs.

UCLA 28, Oregon 7 — Uclans tune up for big game with crosstown rival USC.

Penn State 28, Maryland 0 — The Nittany Lions take pride in their defense.

Auburn 27, Georgia 7 — The Tigers are bowl-hungry.

Tennessee 28, Mississippi 14 — Volunteers have manpower to slow Archie Manning.

Notre Dame 35, Georgia Tech 19 — Irish feast on Southern hospitality.

Stanford 33, Air Force 24 — Jim Plunkett wins aerial battle with flyboy Gary Baxter.

Utah 27, Arizona 2 — There's bowl talk in Redskin teepee.

Missouri 27, Iowa State 14 — Tigers have momentum.

Arkansas 30, Southern Methodist 14 — Razorbacks too strong for Mustangs.

How the mighty have fallen.
The Boston Celtics, the defending champions of the National Basketball Association, suffered their ninth defeat in 12 games Wednesday night when they were beaten by the Cincinnati Royals, 116-107.

The Celtics, still seeking a winning combination minus retired player-coach Bill Russell, stayed with the Royals until midway through the second quarter when 10 straight points by Cincinnati's Johnny Green and Fred Foster broke the game open.

With Boston leading, 38-37, Green scored on a layup, Foster followed with one of his own and Green connected with a stuff shot before Foster hit on two straight baskets to put the Royals in front for good at 47-38.

Oscar Robertson paced Cincinnati with 25 points and 12 assists while Foster finished with 17 points and Tom Van Arsdale added 16. Don Nelson led Boston with 23 and John Havlicek had 22.

In the only other NBA game, Jim Barnett tallied 17 of his 25 points in the final quarter to pace the San Diego Rockets to a 132-119 victory over the Detroit Pistons.

The Rockets had blown a 12 point halftime lead and were trailing 95-94 with 10 minutes left to play before Barnett and Elvin Hayes began finding the range. Hayes led all scorers with 34 points while Terry Dischinger paced Detroit with 29.

ALMO DEFEATS REDBIRDS

BIRMINGHAM TRIES For All-Star Game
BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (UPI)—Birmingham's Legion Field is being reserved for June 20 or 27 by a group which hopes to move the American Football Coaches Association annual All-American game from Atlanta.

The Birmingham Park Board Wednesday granted the request presented by H. C. Stubbs, chairman of the group. The organization was originally formed three years ago to try and bring an NCAA collegiate championship playoff game here.

Stubbs said he believed the financially troubled East-West collegiate game would be a success in Birmingham.

Plagued by declining attendance, the last All-America game in Atlanta drew only 17,000.

DEVINE GIVES MISSOURI ITS FINEST YEARS

By BILL OSTHOFF

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI)—Dan Devine has given the University of Missouri the finest years in its football history. Never have the Tigers had a losing season under the Devine hand.

Devine, now in his 12th season at Mizzou, has placed seven Tiger teams in 11 years in the top 20, won at better than a 7-3 consistency and taken five Missouri squads—four were winners—to post-season bowls. He's done it on sort of a "defense 'em first, run at 'em on offense second and avoid the pass at all costs" philosophy.

Control football was the name of the game at Missouri.

So, when the Tigers came out throwing this season it was truly a sign of the times.

Air Force, which lives by the pass, died by it in the final 32 seconds at Missouri's season-opener as the Tigers won, 19-17. So did Kansas State, which rallied remarkably two weeks ago by passing to an early 31-28 fourth-quarter lead. The Wildcats lost, 41-38, and they lost as surely by the Missouri pass as they did by Tiger Jon Staggers' kick returns.

Oklahoma last Saturday jumped off to a 10-0 lead. It was just the sort of lead Oklahoma has traditionally built into victories. But the Tigers passed the Sooners silly in a 44-10 rout that left Missouri in the driver's seat to win its first Big Eight football title since 1960.

Devine has had many "big" wins at Missouri and last Saturday's had to be one of them. "It was," he admits, and today Devine was named national Coach-of-the-Week by United Press International.

Why has Devine suddenly gone to the pass after grind-it football for 14 previous seasons—he coached at Arizona State for three seasons before coming to Missouri—made him the third winningest coach in the nation?

"Well, we've always done what our personnel dictates," Devine says.

"If we can throw the ball and catch it and win, we'll do it. If not, we won't. We just play to win."

It's no news in the Big Eight this season that eighth-ranked Missouri, now 7-1, can throw and win, and does. Just ask Oklahoma Coach Chuck Fairbanks.

TKACZUK LEADS RANGERS TO 4-2 VICTORY

By DAVID MOFFITT
UPI Sports Writer

Atlanta (UPI)—Georgia's Vince Dooley doesn't like to take sides when his team isn't involved. But, if he had to pick a winner in Saturday's Tennessee-Ole Miss game he'd go with the Vols.

The 3rd-ranked, unbeaten Vols are six point favorites over the Rebels. But they're playing the game at Jackson, Miss., where the Rebels have beaten Dooley's Bulldogs and 10th-ranked Louisiana State.

"Manning will have to have one of those super games he's so capable of if Ole Miss is to have a chance," said Dooley, whose team lost 25-17 to Mississippi and 17-3 to Tennessee.

TKaczuk scored two goals Wednesday night—making it eight in his last eight games—as the Rangers downed the Detroit Red Wings, 4-2. It's no coincidence that since Tkaczuk has been turning on the red light regularly the Rangers sport a 6-1-1 record in National Hockey League play.

Roy Edwards of the Red Wings turned in a sensational performance to keep the Rangers at bay until 16:07 of the second period when Jean Ratelle put New York in front, 1-0. Tkaczuk followed with a goal 1:43 later and added another in the third period in a game so one-sided from the viewpoint of skating advantage that it wouldn't have been unfair if Ranger goalie Ed Giacomin had paid for his ticket to Madison Square Garden.

The Rangers outshot the Red Wings, who suffered their first loss in six road games, 31-9, in the first two periods and 42-18 in the game.

Les Binkley registered his first shutout of the season as the Pittsburgh Penguins beat the Toronto Maple Leafs, 3-0, at Toronto. Tracy Pratt, Brian Hextall and Keith McCreary scored for the Penguins.

The Montreal Canadiens retained their one-point lead in the Eastern Division by routing the Oakland Seals, 5-0. Claude Provost led the Canadiens' attack with two goals while young Rogatien Vachon posted his first shutout of the season. The loss stretched the Seals' winless streak to six games.

J. P. Parise scored the tying goal in the first period and an insurance tally in the third period as the Minnesota North Stars defeated the Philadelphia Flyers, 4-2. Danny Grant and Claude Larose rifled home the other star scores. Andre Lacroix and Lou Morrison scored for the Flyers.

LYNN GROVE WINS
The Lynn Grove Wildcats defeated the New Concord Redbirds 70-46 in elementary school cage action this week. West led the Wildcats with 32 points and Scarbro pumped in 25 for the Redbirds.

Lynn Grove (70)—Morris 7, Taylor 8, West 32, Adams 2, Howard 17, Murdock 2, Armstrong 2.

New Concord (46)—Scarbro 25, Garrison 3, Breisford 12, Fannin 1, Quinn 5.

Georgia's Dooley Picks Vols Over Ole Miss On Saturday

New Concord (46)—Scarbro 25, Garrison 3, Breisford 12, Fannin 1, Quinn 5.

"But, if Tennessee can't stop Manning, no one can," Dooley figures the Rebels have a chance if Manning's right because "Tennessee's offensive strength is in its running and Ole Miss can defend pretty well against the ground game."

Dooley's got problems of his own Saturday with 13th-ranked Auburn the next Georgia foe. "I'm convinced that Auburn may be the best team in the South right now," Dooley said. "That includes Tennessee which beat the Tigers 45-19. That game took a few odd bounces and, anyway Auburn is a lot better now than then."

"I'd like to see those two going at it this weekend instead of Auburn and us - it would be quite a game."

Auburn, 6-2, is a three point favorite over Georgia, 5-2-1. Elsewhere in the Southeast this weekend, Alabama is a 6½ point favorite as host to Miami Fla., Florida is favored by 16½ as host to Kentucky, LSU is favored by 24 as host to Mississippi State, Georgia Tech is a 22-point underdog as host to Notre Dame in a night game, Tulane is favored by 8 at home against Virginia and Florida State hosts Memphis State.

Bowl scouts will be out in force this weekend since bids start Monday. Tennessee, figuring to be a front-runner for the Orange Bowl, LSU, Auburn and Georgia are all considered prime bowl candidates.

With natural leader Mike Phipps of Purdue forced to go against top-ranked Ohio State Saturday, Florida sophomore John Reeves has a good chance to move to the top again in total offense. Reeves, with an already-SEC record 2,240 yards, trails Phipps by 82 yards.

Killebrew earned the award by taking two of the AL's coveted titles, the home run crown with 49 circuit clouts and the RBI championship after driving in 140 runs.

The Minnesota Twins' slugger, who signed with the original Washington Senators for $50,000 in 1954 after an .847 season in the semi-pros, batted .276 this year as he helped his club to the Western Division title. The Twins then lost three straight to the AL champion Baltimore Orioles in a best-of-five playoff.

Killebrew collected 294 of a possible 336 points and was named on all 24 ballots submitted by the Selection Committee of the BBWAA. Two writers from each league city participated in the voting.

Boggy Powell, Baltimore's big first baseman and the only other player to be honored with his name on all two dozen ballots, trailed badly in the voting with 227 points. Teammate Frank Robinson was third with 162 points, Frank Howard of the "new" Washington Senators finished fourth with 115 and Reggie Jackson of the Oakland Athletics was fifth with 110 points.

Killebrew received 16 first-place votes, Powell six and Robinson two. Points were based on 14 for first, nine for second, eight for third and down to one for a 10th-place nod.

Pacers Swamp Cougars

By United Press International

Roger Brown and Bob Netolicky, taken one-half at a time, are just too much for the opposition.

Brown, scored 28 of his game high 32 points in the first half and Netolicky tallied, 18 of his 20 points after intermission Wednesday night as the Indiana Pacers swamped the Carolina Cougars, 130-111. Brown and Netolicky rank seven-eighth among American Basketball Association scorers.

The Pacers scored the last 10 points of the game after Carolina made a belated run at Indiana that closed the gap to 120-111.

Denver scored 13 straight points opening the fourth quarter to stop Pittsburgh, 125-114. Larry Jones tallied 10 points during the Rockets' spurt and wound up with a game high 43 points. Teammate Spencer Haywood added 35 points. Rookie John Brisker led Pittsburgh with 36 points.

Dallas downed Washington, 122-104, in the first game of a doubleheader at Los Angeles. Manny Leaks and Glen Combs combined for 56 points, as the Chaps moved into a second-place tie with the New Orleans in the Western Division. Washington coach Al Bianchi was ejected after being assessed two technical fouls.

In the nightcap, the Stars opened a one-game lead in the Western Division by downing the New York Nets, 133-126, behind some deadly foul shooting in the second half.

The Stars, coached by Bill Sharman, considered the best foul shooter in pro basketball history, hit on 32 of 37 free throws after the intermission to keep the Nets at bay. Larry Miller led Los Angeles with 25 points, while Bill Melchioni tallied 27 for New York.

Introducing Jeanne Moreau— French Pastry Just Like U.S. Apple Pie

By ARMY ARCHERD
Central Press Association
Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD—The idol of France—the 44-year-old sex symbol of a country which worships amour in all its forms—finally selected a Hollywood script she felt was right for her motion picture debut in the United States. The fact it was a man's picture and the fact her role was actually a small one may seem surprising on the surface. Nevertheless, she had chosen to play the role of a prostitute in a western called "Monte Walsh." The star: Jeanne Moreau.

I was shocked when I met her—she was just plain folks—talked like an ordinary mortal—and in perfect English!

"There were two big reasons and many factors which made me decide on this picture," she said. "The first, of course, was Lee Marvin. The chance to play his leading lady was something I just could not turn down. I knew the role was a small one. But it is such a solid part and the relationship between us in the script is so beautiful and warm I just had to play it."

"The second reason was director Bill Fraker. I have admired his camera work in so many beautiful films that I knew he was to be a brilliant director. So, when I found out he would be directing his first picture I knew we would have the kind of feeling so important to me."

IN TALKING with Jeanne—excuse it, Miss Moreau, I found she was on first name basis with everyone in the crew of her films and interested in all behind-the-camera work as well as her own acting.

"There is a room in my house outside Paris," she admitted, "with at least 200 scripts of American motion pictures offered to me during the past several years. Some of them were great stories and many wonderful films. But I turned them all down because they were not for me."

I SPOKE to her the day before she started the film, when she was as enthusiastic about it and Lee Marvin as a starlet in her first movie. Then, I spoke to her at the film's conclusion. As for the film and Lee, she said:

"Lee Marvin is truly what you Americans call a superstar. Not a super-actor, a superstar. You see, there is a big difference. Anyone can say the words and look the looks and walk where the script says. That is acting. But where is the feeling, where does the warmth come from, where is the intimacy that must be there to bring the action into life, into being?"

"That is Marvin's secret," continued Jeanne. "He never plays a role. He substitutes himself for the character and when he walks on camera, he is the character. Only with a man like that can I do what must be done. Only with his intensity and truth can I react and make my role believable. He is so beautiful when he gets lost in his role that you forget who he really is. That's his big thing. He leaves Lee Marvin behind when he goes on camera."

There had been those who foretold fireworks between Moreau and Marvin because they're both supposed to be "free thinkers."

"WHY should that bring trouble?" she asked. "I have always done what I feel that I must do. In life, in my loves, in my marriage, in my profession. I have asked nobody's permission to do these things. It is my decision to make—for am I not the one who must live with the results?"

"Lee is the same way—I think. He does many things people may say are not right. But the only one who suffers from those things is Lee Marvin. So if he wants to do them, he has the right."

"And as far as the two of us getting along, I have never felt more at ease and completely free with a man as I have with him. He plays the game by his rules. I play mine. He has never tried to change this. I think that's why I admire him so much. He's a free thinker all right, but he gives the freedom to everyone else. How much bigger can you get?"

"We have never had an argument. We never dated. He has never asked me out for drinks unless it was on a company party. I have been to his house—with many people, the same way. He has never been rude to me. He has never used the four-letter words he is supposed to say all the time. He has always treated me with respect. And has never tried to upstage me or run the picture his way."

No, she is not in love with Lee Marvin, but we wouldn't blame Lee—if he were in love with her.

Flight Plan For Apollo 12

SPACE CENTER, Houston (UPI)—Apollo 12, the second United States moon landing mission, is scheduled to blast away from Cape Kennedy Nov. 14 on a flight that will last 10 days.

Astronauts Charles H. "Pete" Conrad and Alan L. Bean will spend 32 hours on the moon, making two walks that will total up to eight hours. Richard F. Gordon will remain in the Apollo 12 command ship, orbiting the moon, while they land.

The following is the Apollo 12 flight plan, all times EST, based on an on-time liftoff and subject to change:

Friday, Nov. 14 - Launch day 11:22 a.m.—Saturn 5 rocket blasts away from Cape Kennedy, placing Apollo 12 in earth orbit 12 minutes later.

2:09 p.m.—Top stage of rocket reignites, hurling spacecraft out of earth orbit toward moon.

2:45 p.m.—Command ship separates from rocket, turns around and docks nose-to-nose with lunar landing craft still attached to rocket.

2:50 p.m.—Color television from command ship, showing moon lander out of window with earth in background, show lasts 1 hour 2 minutes and includes spacecraft pulling away from rocket which later will be fired by remote control into solar orbit.

Saturday, Nov. 15 5:22 a.m.—Astronauts go to sleep for first time since launch.

3:22 p.m.—Astronauts awaken.

5:47 p.m.—Second television show, with views inside command ship, lasting 35 minutes.

6:15 p.m.—Conrad fires main command ship engine for 10 seconds, shifting spacecraft to a patch that would miss the earth if the ship coasted all the way around the moon and started back without firing any of its engines again. This departure from a "free return" patch, an Apollo first, is needed to reach the Apollo 12 lunar landing site.

Sunday, Nov. 16 6:22 a.m.—Astronauts begin sleep period.

4:22 p.m.—Crew awakens and performs navigation duties.

Monday, Nov. 17—Moon arrival 2:52 a.m.—Television show from inside command ship, lasting 50 minutes, showing Conrad and Bean visiting moon lander for first time in flight.

7:22 a.m.—Crew goes to sleep.

3:22 p.m.—Crew awakens.

5:47 p.m.—Final opportunity to adjust course before reaching moon.

8:52 p.m.—Fourth color telecast of flight shows crew preparing to enter moon orbit. Lasts 20 minutes.

10:36 p.m.—Apollo 12 goes behind moon, out of contact with the earth, and fires its big main engine at 10:47 p.m. to slow down and drop into a 68-by-194-mile high lunar orbit.

11:22 p.m.—Color television show of lunar surface from moon orbit, lasting 30 minutes.

Tuesday, Nov. 18—Moon orbit 3:06 a.m.—Apollo 12, behind moon, fires main engine again and trims up orbital altitude to 61 by 75 miles.

7:52 a.m.—Crew goes to sleep.

4:22 p.m.—Astronauts awaken and begin preparations for lunar landing.

7:22 p.m.—Conrad and Bean get ready to enter landing craft, leaving Gordon alone in command ship.

11:12 p.m.—Television from command ship, showing moon lander pulling free from command craft's nose at 11:46 p.m., and flying formation.

Wednesday, Nov. 19—Moon landing 12:45 a.m.—Conrad fires landing craft descent engine and brakes into an orbit swooping within 50,000 feet of the moon.

1:42 a.m.—At 50,000 foot altitude, Conrad fires a second rocket burst with the landing engine and starts descent toward moon's surface.

1:53 a.m.—Touchdown on the lunar ocean of storms.

3:17 a.m.—Conrad and Bean begin their first meal on moon.

5:55 a.m.—Astronauts open landing craft hatch in preparation for their first moonwalk.

6:09 a.m.—Conrad steps on moon under gaze of television camera he turned on three minutes earlier while coming down landing craft ladder.

6:36 a.m.—Bean joins Conrad on surface.

6:47 a.m.—Astronauts plant American flag, unpack a self-powered scientific research station and set station up on lunar surface. They also gather moon rock samples.

8:55 a.m.—Bean re-enters landing craft, followed 20 minutes later by Conrad. They turn off TV camera, left outside on a tripod, at 9:27 a.m., and then eat. Moonwalk may last 30 minutes longer if all goes well.

11:09 a.m.—Gordon, orbiting moon alone, fires main engine for a course adjustment.

12:17 p.m.—Moonwalkers string hammocks in landing craft and go to sleep.

9:17 p.m.—Conrad and Bean awaken for second moonwalk.

Thursday, Nov. 20—Moon liftoff 12:32 a.m.—Astronauts turn on lunar surface TV.

12:40 a.m.—Conrad steps on moon for second time, joined by Bean seven minutes later.

12:57 a.m.—Astronauts start "geology traverse" toward spot where Surveyor 3 robot craft landed in 1967, picking up carefully selected rock and soil samples on the way.

2:30 a.m.—Moonwalkers reach surveyor, where they remove some parts to return them to earth.

3:26 a.m.—Back at Apollo 13 landing craft, Bean climbs back inside. Conrad follows him 25 minutes later, after passing up rock boxes and parts from surveyor. Moonwalk may be extended 30 minutes if all goes well.

6:38 a.m.—Lunar surface TV camera turned off before liftoff from the moon.

9:23 a.m.—Astronauts fire big ascent engine, climbing away from lunar surface to rejoin command ship in orbit.

12:37 p.m.—Ninth television show of flight, this one from command ship and lasting 30 minutes, showing approach of lunar landing craft.

1:02 p.m.—Landing craft docks with nose of command ship, and lunar explorers rejoin Gordon.

3:19 p.m.—Empty landing craft jettisoned.

4:47 p.m.—Radio signal from earth fires landing craft's engine, sending it into a dive toward the moon. It hits at 5:15, and the impact is registered on a moonquake meter the astronauts set up on the surface.

5:22 p.m.—Astronauts start sleep period.

Friday, Nov. 21 12:52 a.m.—Astronauts wake up.

2:24 a.m.—Main command ship engine fires to adjust course for photography of future Apollo landing sites.

3:43 p.m.—Main Apollo 12 engine fires again, blasting spacecraft out of moon orbit and driving it back toward earth.

4:17 p.m.—Astronauts aim television camera at the receding moon. Space agency says this TV show may be taped for later replay.

5:30 p.m.—Crew goes to sleep.

Saturday, Nov. 22 3:30 a.m.—Conrad, Gordon and Bean wake up.

6:43 a.m.—Astronauts have first chance to correct homeward bound course if necessary, then perform navigation tasks.

5:30 p.m.—Crew begins sleep period.

Sunday, Nov. 23 3:30 a.m.—Astronauts awaken.

5:44 p.m.—Second opportunity to correct aim toward earth.

6:37 p.m.—Final television show of flight, showing earth and inside of spacecraft. Lasts 30 minutes.

7:30 p.m.—Crew goes to sleep.

Monday, Nov. 24—Re-entry 5:30 a.m.—Astronauts awaken and prepare for re-entry to earth's atmosphere.

12:44 p.m.—Three hours from home, Apollo 12 has last chance to trim up its course.

3:22 p.m.—Command ship cabin separates from service module, which contains main rocket engine, and hits upper fringes of earth's atmosphere over South Pacific 12 minutes later.

3:58 p.m.—Splashdown in the Pacific Ocean, about 460 miles southeast of Pago Pago, and start of quarantine schedule to end Dec. 10 in Houston.

NEW IN U.S.A.

"Violin Spider" almost like the Brown Fiddler Recluse Spider, but can be almost any color. Was found in the U.S.A. last May. The bite can cause extensive skin damage, also painful severe ulceration of a large area; and might be fatal if not treated. Injection by the poisonous spider causes a change in the blood, and is more toxic than the Recluse Spider. A number of deaths have been reported.

Dr. Russell's Laboratory the U.S.C. Lab maintains probably the world's largest collection of anti-venom have, the serums.

We have a new method to kill spiders, roaches and other insects. No mess, no cleaning out cabinets, walk out of the house and we do the rest. Helps protect furs, clothes and carpet.
